Using Other Libraries

Carnegie Mellon students, faculty and staff can obtain a borrowing card at the University of Pittsburgh. Visit the Hillman Library Circulation Desk and show a current CMU ID.

To obtain a borrowing card from the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, take a completed application, your current CMU ID, and proof of local residence to any CLP location.

To borrow books from other local academic libraries, stop at any reference desk and get a Lyrasis borrowing authorization form signed by a Carnegie Mellon librarian. Take the signed form and your Carnegie Mellon ID when you visit.

Virtual Private Networking

Virtual Private Network (VPN) creates a secure connection, called a tunnel, between your computer and the server. This tunnel allows secure communications and the ability to extend local network access to offsite locations. IMPORTANT: VPN does not eliminate the need for an Internet Service Provider (ISP). You must have a valid internet connection before you can connect to the VPN server.

VPN at Carnegie Mellon

Cisco AnyConnect VPN is the VPN client available for connecting to Carnegie Mellon resources off-site. You will need a VPN connection for the following:

- If you are off-site and need to access a service that is restricted by IP address (e.g., restricted library services or databases).
- If you are using an application that does not provide secure transfer of data from an off-campus location.
- If you are using a wireless connection on campus and you're sending information that should be secured with an encrypted connection.
- If you are accessing a service which exists only on a restricted subnet.

| FIRST TIME ONLY | After First Time Use | Cannot Find the AnyConnect Icon? |

August 29, 2011: An upgrade for the Cisco AnyConnect VPN Client has been released. Cisco AnyConnect VPN Client 3.0 includes numerous fixes, enhancements, features and Mac OS X 10.7 Lion support. Anyone who connects through Cisco AnyConnect VPN will auto-upgrade to the new version. You may experience a brief delay as the auto-upgrade is performed.

Once upgraded, you may notice that the application icon and some of the windows are different. Please refer to the Cisco AnyConnect VPN Client document for details.

FIRST TIME ONLY:

- Download the VPN client AnyConnect.
- Be sure to uninstall any previous versions of VPN before you begin
- Follow these instructions to install AnyConnect
- From the dropdown menu, make sure to select: Library Resources VPN
- Once AnyConnect is installed, connect to the Library website.
- Close the browser window that may have remained opened during the installation process
- When finished using library resources, make sure to Disconnect

After First Time Use:

- Follow these instructions.
- Make sure the dropdown menu says Library Resources VPN
- Connect to the Library website.
- When finished using library resources, select Disconnect
