Our site is still under construction and should launch by mid-February 2016.

—— We plan to provide products & services to Tor users based on the latest research in multifactor keys and applied cryptography —— and to serve as a reliable knowledge base of wisdom for everything you need to know about the hardware & software behind Tor.

[> Part 1: for Tor users who stumbled here <]

—— + [What the site will be like] +

—— —— It'll have a Web interface for you to buy and use products & services related to Tor

—— —— based on the cryptographic engineering I'm studying.

———— {EXCEPT:} There will be special software and services related to encrypted data storage and management

—— —— It wouldn't sound so boring if I actually said what it was

—— —— Remember that everything* on Tor* falls under the category of "storing and managing encrypted data"
