Script for CNET Wireless spot for United Airlines in-flight network

Technology is moving at the speed of light, and with the advent of wireless you’re no longer anchored to your desktop. Wireless technology will change our lives the same way the Internet has. (10 seconds)

Eric Kao sound bite: “There are currently more than 125 million subscribers to wireless services in the U.S., and projections are that this number will almost double in the next few years.” (Super Eric Kao – CNET) (9 seconds)

With so many wireless products on the market, turn to CNET Wireless as your virtual compass. CNET helps you make sense of the wireless world, navigate through the maze of products, and make smart purchasing decisions. (13 seconds)

Sound bite from site user: “Determining which wireless products were right for me was very confusing, but the site helped me figure things out.” (6 seconds)

From cell phones to service plans to PDAs, CNET Wireless educates you on the best products at the best prices with insightful reviews from CNET editors and product users, and the latest wireless news and breakthroughs. Get smart about wireless technology…log onto CNET.com. (Super http://wireless.CNET.com) (17 seconds)