

INVESTMENT BANKING SUMMER ANALYST PROGRAM

Lehman Brothers recruits a small number of college juniors for its Summer Analyst Program in the Investment Banking Division. The Program offers an exciting opportunity for accomplished, highly motivated individuals to gain exposure to the Investment Banking industry.

The Program is ten weeks in duration. We place each Summer Analyst in a specific industry or product coverage group where he or she assists bankers on financing and advisory projects as a member of the project team. Our goal is to help our Summer Analysts advance by providing them with significant responsibility and diverse experiences.

While no specific major or path of study is required for the Investment Banking Summer Analyst Program, strong quantitative skills and an interest in business and finance are necessary. Intelligence, leadership traits, diligence, the ability to work well with others and the willingness and capability to function efficiently under severe time constraints are absolutely essential. Long hours and demanding assignments are a constant reality in the Investment Banking field.
