

August 2009

On behalf of University Libraries staff and faculty librarians, it is a pleasure to welcome you into our community. As you get settled, stop by the library in person for an orientation tour, and bookmark us online. All library resources and services are focused to help you flourish and succeed.

Need to get some reading done? Work on a team project? Just want to relax between classes? Probably at least one library is open right now to accommodate you:

- Quiet study areas
- Whiteboard tables
- Group study rooms
- Comfortable reading areas
- Plenty of electrical outlets
- Maggie Murph Café in Hunt Library
- and Hunt's 24/5 study hours will resume on September 8

Does Google, or Bing, or your search engine of choice have it all? Google and other search engines have some intriguing and useful stuff, but the library has what you need for your classes—from books, music & video to online subject-specific search tools. Fulltext databases and online journals will save you time and help you find materials, rather than just search. Find us at <http://search.library.cmu.edu>.

Stuck for an idea, have you come to a blank wall, need some advice about where to look? Faculty librarians and information professionals experienced in all subjects are here in person, or out there online virtually ready to consult about your information and research needs. No question is too large or too small.

Welcome to Carnegie Mellon!
